Press Release

SUN Area Council of Republican Women Win First Place

The SUN (Snyder, Union, Northumberland counties) Area Council of Republican Women attend PA Federation of Republican Women Convention and remain active during the upcoming election.

October 2, 2010: The PA Federation of Republican Women held its annual conference September 17, 18 and 19 in Lancaster, PA. Speakers included Edward Turzanski, a senior fellow for policy at the Center on Terrorism, Counter-terrorism and Homeland Security. Political strategist Joseph Gerachet presented, "All Politics and Campaigns are Local." Renee Amoore's inspiring speech prompted the room to rock to the song, "Ain't No Stopping Us Now."

SUNACRW donated children's books through the Literacy Committee; and canned goods, aluminum tabs and postage stamps for the Caring for America Committee. SUNACRW won two awards in the scrapbook competition: first place for most original scrapbook and second place for best themed cover. Pictured are Irene Harris and Jolene Bierly holding the scrapbook awards.

The next meeting of SUNACRW will be held at 6:30 PM on Thursday, October 7, 2010 at the regional Republican Victory Center, 216 Market Street, Lewisburg, PA. The topic will be, "How to Be an Effective Volunteer for Your Candidate." All Republicans are invited to attend including men and young women too young to vote.

Thursday evenings through election, SUNACRW invites you to the Victory Center for "Sundaes with SUN Women."
